

Life is a process of growth. Growth is the evidence of Divinity's presence and expression. All of life works this way.

Most people think that "going home" means returning to God. But you cannot return to God, because you never left the God—and your soul knows this.

What is the purpose of life on earth, from the soul's point of view?

Your soul knows that you never left God, and it is seeking to experience that.

Life is a process by which the soul turns knowing into Experiencing and when what you have known and experienced becomes a felt reality, that process is complete.

It is the Complete Awareness of who you really are through the complete knowing and complete experiencing and complete feeling of that. It is the end of separation between You and Divinity.

Awareness is a twofold process. Awareness is achieved by Knowing and Experiencing, which produces Feeling.

Feeling is the Language of the Soul.

A Soul arrives at Complete knowing along the path of the Spiritual world, and at Complete Experiencing along the path of the Physical World. Both paths are needed, put them together you have a perfect environment within which to create Complete Feeling, which produces Complete Awareness.

No Soul arrives at Absolute Awareness in one lifetime. It is the cumulative effect. Each life ended when the agenda or the mission of that particular life has been completed.

There are two levels of Completion. Level One is when you complete a step in the overall process. Level Two is when you complete the overall process itself.

"Overall process is complete when Who You Are has been fully known, fully experienced, and fully felt."

No path back home is better than any other path. Being Complete is the Objective. You take a winding path or straight line, when you get to your truth about life and living and death and dying, you will have cleared the obstacles and created a less laborious path to Completion.

Once you know about death fully, you can live your life fully. Then you can experience your self fully. Then you can die gracefully and gratefully, knowing consciously that you are complete. This is a very peaceful death.

Death is not "dying", it is merging and emerging.

E+ merging

When you are afraid of the "little deaths" - any defeat or loss—you are also afraid to live. So you are afraid to die.

Why are we all so "deadly afraid" of dying?

Because of what you have taught about death. When you hold death in a new way, you can experience it in a new way. And that can be a great gift.

Death is never a tragedy. It is always a gift.

Everyone dies when they choose to die? Even Dr. YSR chosen to die. You may argue with yourself and others that how come he has chosen such tragedy way. No soul leaves the body when it does not want to.

A soul can know at the superconscious level that it is complete for this life time, but not be "aware" of that at the subconscious or conscious level.

The subconscious is the place of experience at which you don't know about or consciously create, your reality. This is not a "bad" level of experience, don't judge it. It is a gift, because it allows you to do things automatically. Ex. Blinking eyes. ... Etc.

Conscious Level is the of experience at which you know about, and create, your reality with some awareness of what you are doing. This is the Physical level.

The SuperConscious is the part of you that holds the larger agenda of the soul— which to move to completion in what you came to the body to experience and to feel.

SuperConscious Level is the place of experience at which you know about, and create with full awareness of what you are doing. This is soul level. Most of us are not aware at a conscious level of your superconscious intentions—unless You are.

Supraconsciousness is also called as "Christ Consciousness" or "Elevated Consciousness" happens when all three consciousness are combined and then transcended, then move to pure Beingness. This is the Ultimate Source of Creation within us. We may experience this before our "death" or after it.

Is there consciousness before birth?

Yes, You have been aware of itself forever. When we born, we simply disintegrate into three parts body, mind, and spirit or also called subconscious, conscious and superconscious. God is there in three parts, therefore. Think only what you choose to experience, and use your mind to consciously Instruct your body to do only what you choose to demonstrate as your highest reality. This is how your create at the conscious level.

Suicide: The fact that everyone is at cause in the ending of their life does not mean they are deliberately choosing at a conscious level to do so. Nor does it imply that are doing so in order to escape some condition or circumstance. Suicide is the use of death to escape, but it creates the same life all over again, with the same challenges and experiences.

Death does not exist, it is the end of present physical existence. That experience is over at the time of your death, but life itself is not.

You cannot change Ultimate Reality, but you can change your experience of it.

What happens following our death?

In Stage one, at the moment of your death, you will instantly experience that life has gone on. There could be a brief period of disorientation, as we realize that you are not with your body and we will find our self in the presence of most loving angles and guides and gentle spirits, including the spirit or essence of every one who has ever been important you in your life.

In Stage two, you will experience yourself being judged. If you died thinking that you deserve heaven, you will experience that. Heaven will be exactly as you imagined it would be, as will hell. You may remain in these experiences as long as you wish.

In Stage three, You will come to know a larger Truth about yourself i.e. immersion with Essence or Ultimate Reality or God and You may create whatever experience we wish.

When you enter the spiritual realm i.e. after death life, all the levels of consciousness become One. All aspects of being—body, mind and spirit become One. All tools of creation—thought, word and deed become One. All experiences of time—past, present and future become One.

Everything Integrates. Every triune reality becomes singular.

Masters create from this level in the physical world as well. Their instant results are called "miracles".

After Integration, each soul is asked the question, "Are you ready? Do you wish to go on? If the thought/feeling reply is "yes", the soul continues on its journey to the spiritual realm. If reply is "No", the soul is sent back to physical world instantly.

After you died first time, you indicated that you did not feel complete with what you moved into physical to experience. For example you wanted to experience giving love to others. You did your best, by dying, but in end you felt it was not enough. You wanted to experience more. So you make decision to comeback to physical world again and again.

In death you will be greeted by all of your loved ones—those have died before you and those will die after you. These souls will comfort you as you release your attachment to the physical world gently guiding to into spiritual realm. You are never alone, and you cannot be alone, by the nature of who are you. For you are not an individual, but an individuation of the ALL. You are a part of ALL of us who live, and all of us who live have an investment in the experience of you. Your ancestors walk with you. Your heirs besides you, watching your decisions on their behalf. We are always with you, and you with us.

Nearly every person who is dying is not dying for the first time. Your loved ones died and come back to you more than once, out of their sense of wishing to be complete with you, and with all the rest of what they chose to accomplish in their life.

Your death is not final until you say it final. You are moving through an endless cycle. There is no beginning and no end. You are no "better" and no "worse" than any other soul on the cycle. The whole cycle is holy, and you simply are where you are.

Death is a moment of creation. There is an energy adjustment at the moment of what you call "death" that fine tunes the energy with which you enter into that moment, producing a duplicating effect in the nonphysical world that you have just entered, so that you continue to have experience you have been creating, even as you transition into another realm.

In reverse when you born, the energy that you have brought with you from the spiritual realm is transformed into matter by process of energy attunement.

Birth and Death are moments of creation. They are the Prime Moments.

To understand more closely, our after death experience is something that we are creating here and now, and that we will continue to create then and there with our thought and hope.

What you hope, you will eventually believe, what you believe, you will eventually know, what you know eventually create, what you create, you will eventually experience, what you experience, you will eventually express, what you express, you will eventually become. This is the formula for all of life.

Entire universe is composed of one thing , acting differently. Scientists are now calling this one thing the basic energy of life, manifesting as very small "superstrings" vibrating at different speeds. The variations in these vibrations produce the variations in the physical matter that makes up all things in the universe.

The things you think, the things you say, and the things you do are the vibrations, these vibrations form particular patterns and obtain particular frequencies, and these fluctuations produce particular kinds of disturbances in the energy pattern that is Life Itself. Such disturbances are nothing more than patterned and changing movements of the invisible superstrings, and these varying vibration that produce varying physical matter.

You can alter "lifes frequency" by what you are thinking, saying, or doing thus producing changes in the energy pattern that is "you" and in the energy that "you" emit and send to the world.

What kinds of thoughts, words, and actions produce the most beneficial frequencies?

Meditation or prayer is a high form of energy alteration. Visualizing what you desire is a high form of energy manipulation. Speaking your word is a high form of energy adjustment. Such activities alter the vibration of the superstrings that make up you and everything around you.

You cant change your experience (consciousness)—in this lifetime or next—until you know how you have created it. Three tools of Creation (thought, word and deed) And three levels of Experience (conscious, subconscious, superconscious).

Thought is a very powerful tool because it is used at all three levels.

Words are creations of the mind. When you move from the conscious mind to superconscious awareness, you will find no words for it.

If you move to this level of awareness in meditation, during sacred dance or ritual, or by some other means, you will in that place that there are only feelings (or vibrations).

Feelings are your first thought and language of Soul.

Words are your second thought and language of mind

Actions are third thought and language of body.

Your body is a magnificent instrument of highly sensitive energy receptors. Very few people use their intuitive an psychic abilities to go deep within themselves and get in touch with their feelings before they think or say or do something.

When you are with another person, if you will stop listening to what you are thinking and begin listening to what you are feeling, the quality of communication with that person will skyrocket.

Now you can say that you have heard all of this before— but you are not acting like it. What would it " look alike" if I were "acting like it".

First, you would never entertain negative thoughts in your mind again.

Second, if a negative thought did happen to slip in, you would get it out of your mind immediately. You would think of something else, deliberately. You would simply change your mind about that.

Third, you would begin to not only understand Who You Really Are, but to honor and demonstrate that. That is, you would move from what you know to what you experience as the measure of your own evolution.

Fourth, you would love yourself fully, just as you are.

Fifth, you would love everyone else fully, just as they are.

Sixth, you would love life fully, just as it is.

Seventh, you would forgive everyone everything.

Eighth, you would never deliberately hurt another human being again— emotionally or physically.

Ninth, you would never mourn the death of another again not even for a moment.

Tenth, you would never fear or mourn your own death, not even for a moment.

Eleventh, you would aware that everything is vibration.

Twelfth, you would do whatever it takes to adjust the vibration of your own energy and the life energy that you are creating around you if you find that it is not in resonance with the highest knowing you have about Who You Are, and the greatest experience of this that you can possibly imagine.

Life is eternal and love is immortal and death is only a horizon.

All things exist in the Space/Time Continuum in perfect balance. The essence of who you are knows precisely and exactly when the process of Life it self calls for you to merge with the Oneness and to emerge from it, in order for you to know the bliss of the Oneness through the experience and the glory of its individuation. The system works perfectly. The balance is precise.

The timing and the circumstances of death are always perfect. Death is the passageway between the physical world and the spiritual realm.

There has been lots of theology created around Heaven and Hell, hell does not even exist unless you create it yourself.

Those souls who enter the body and leave the body within a very short period—children—inevitable do so in service to the agenda of another, at very high level. Many souls come to earth to experience the joy of serving the agenda of others in another way. In some cases, they required to leave early in order to do that. This is never, however, a tragedy for that soul. They have agreed to leave early.

Angels: Every soul who comes to the body to serve the agenda of others is an angel and every child who died very young has done so to bring a gift to another. That gift may not be understood for some time by parents and other who are, naturally, deeply grieving, but it promise that as time goes by and healing occurs, the gift will be seen, it will be received, and the work of the that little sweetheart will have been accomplished.

Always, your loved ones are always with you. They hover about you now, some in physical form, some as spirit guides and angles. They are angels. They have appeared in your world with a Divine reason and for a Divine purpose: that you might know and choose, express and experience, become and fulfill. Who You Really Are.

Life on this planet is your greatest treasure, created for you as a context within which you might make the next glorious decision about your self.

Judge not, and neither condemn? Be a light unto the darkness, and curse not and experience of your most wondrous imagining.

Remembrances

Dying is something you do for you.

You are the cause of your own death. This is always true, no matter where, or how, you die.

You can not die against your will.

No path back Home is better than any other path.

Death is never a tragedy. It is always a gift.

You are God are one. There is no separation between you.

Death does not exist.

You cannot change Ultimate Reality, but you can change your experience of it.

It is the desire of ALL That Is to Know itself in Its Own Experience. This is the reason for al of Life.

Life is eternal.

The timing and the circumstances of death are always perfect.

The death of every person always serves the agenda of every other person who is aware of it. That is why they are aware of it. Therefore, no death (and no life) is ever "wasted". No one ever dies "in vain".

Birth and Death are the same thing.

You are continually in the act of creation, in life and in death.

There is so such thing as the end of evolution.

Death is reversible.

In death you will be greeted by all of your loved ones— those who have died before you and those who will die after you.

Free choice is the act of pure creation, the signature of God, and your gift, your glory, and your power forever and ever.

You may exercise the power of Free Choice both in the spiritual realm and in the physical world. With your thoughts, with your words, and with deeds will you do so.

Recreate your Self anew in the next grandest version of the greatest vision you ever held about Who You Are.

Everybody is doing everything for themselves. When you understand that this is true even about dying. You will never fear dying again. And when you no longer fear dying, you will no longer fear living. You will live your life fully, right up until the very last moment.

If you think that you are living or dying without God, you will experience that you are. You may have this experience as long as you wish. You may end this experience whenever you choose.

Finally: Whatever you choose and wherever you are, you are always have the ability to instantly be.... Home with God.

You are different from God, but you are not divided from the God. That is why you can never die.

No death is wasted and all death brings a message to those who leave the earth and to those who remain.

To truly understand ultimate Reality, you have to be out of your mind.
